

prof. ANGELA ROMAGNOLI

Department of Musicology and Cultural Heritage
University of Pavia – Cremona

Phone: + 39 037225575-33925

E-mail: angela.romagnoli@unipv.it

Angela Romagnoli is associate professor at the Department of Musicology and Cultural Heritage of Cremona (University of Pavia).

She teaches History of performance practice, History of dance and dance music and History of theater.

She has taught at the Charles University in Prague and at the University of Vienna, and was invited to give lectures by many European academic and cultural institutions, among them Salzburg, Innsbruck, Brno, Bratislava.

Prof. Romagnoli participated actively in the life of Italian and international cultural institutions as a musicological consultant and organizer of cultural events.

Since 2009 she is artistic director of WAM-Festival Internazionale W.A. Mozart in Rovereto, and is a member of the Board of the European Mozart Ways.